

TAILORS FORM DEMAND

WORKERS TO BE DIVIDED IN TWO CLASSES HEREAFTER.

The Demands to Be Discussed at a Meeting To-day, and if Adopted to Be Presented to the Contractors-Manufacturers of Gunpowder—The Fever Spreading

The muggy weather of yesterday seemed to have roused the enthusiasm of the strikers' tailors in and around Wallabout. They were very quiet, except when reports of shops came in, and then they shouted and cheered for nothing in particular. Both contractors and tailors agreed in saying that the strike is bound to be widespread and to involve all the east side within a few days. According to Henry Solomon, the Secretary of the Brotherhood of Tailors, the following workers will be involved: Brotherhood of Tailors, 12,000; Dress Makers, 2,000; Coat and Pants Makers, 5,000; Children's Jacket Makers, 1,000; Makers, 3,000; Overcoat and Sack Coat Makers, 1,200; a total of 27,000 persons. In addition about 1,800 buttonhole workers, he said, would be made idle.

The overcoat and sack coat makers were on strike yesterday, but at the last moment decided not to strike until to-day, when the walking-out will be over.

The agreement containing the demands of the strikers to be presented to the contractor was prepared yesterday and will be read at the afternoon's mass meeting. The operators, bakers, and finishers are to be divided into two classes. The following will be the demands: First-class finishers, $15 a week; second-class finishers, $12 a week; and operators, $10 a week; first-class, $10 a week; second-class, $10 a week; pressers, $12 a week; first-class finishers, $11 a week; second-class, $9 a week. The bushelers will make their own terms, as their work is independent of the others.

Forty-nine hours are to constitute a working week.

Only one helper is to be allowed to each team. The contractors who lived up to their agreements of the last two years will be required to give only their own notes for security, but those who have not lived up to their agreements will be required to give security in cash.

Only a few girls were at the meeting in Washington, D. C., last night. Among them was Mary Persky, one of the brightest of the girl leaders. She said that the girls would demand from $3 to $4 a week, "and we have a strike with the men. We are dependent on them for work any way we want a restoration of the wages we had before. The wages are kept down by the competition of girls who take work home and have all the time to make it." Several representatives of manufacturers were at the headquarters of the strike leaders. One of them, a foreman in a large firm, said to a reporter: "The girls ended their strike. They are to be rushed through in a short time." Another man, who said he was in the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, said he had visited the leaders of both sides yesterday. He said he could do nothing until the men ended their strike.

It could not be learned yesterday what the unions outside the Brotherhood of Tailors and Shirts would do in case of an extension of the strike beyond the tailors' strike.

The girl and women strikers of the Brotherhood of Tailors and Shirts are the only ones who have not yet ended their strike.

of the assembly rooms at Waltham Hall. About twenty men were present. They were all at the meeting, the only thing being that one male and the women on the other, like a Quaker meeting. All the women were dressed in the same uniform, and those present at the meeting were dressed in their best costumes, showing a respect for the occasion. The speaker was the famous Meyer Schoenfeld, Louis Persky, Minnie Rosner and Esther Friedman.

There were a number of Tailors affiliated with the Socialist Trade and Labor Alliance at the meeting. The meeting ended early yesterday morning about 10 o'clock. They passed resolutions that they would work for the nine hours of their union only, for a fifty-nine hour working week, and several other things. No reference to wages will be made in their demands.

CAUGHT FOR THE BOSTON POLICE.

Chase of a Broadway Car with a Swindler Aband of It.

Detectives Coddell and Walsh of the West Thirtieth street station had a chase down Broadway from Forty-second street yesterday after a man wanted in Boston on charges of swindling

They caught him on a Broadway car at Twenty-third street, where he had just stepped out. West Thirtieth street station, he looked up at the stationer, and he was given a copy of the newspaper papers from Massachusetts. The prisoner gave his name as Charles E. Price. It was upon the name of Holland that the Boston police had been looking for him.

Yesterday George Kohnlepp, a jeweler of 220 West Thirtieth street, said he had run across Holland. Mr. Kohnlepp said that he had seen him about a year and a half ago. Holland had come to him representing himself to be a member of the firm of Holland and Kohnlepp, and he had asked him to collect the money due them. Kohnlepp paid a part of the money, but he had not seen him since, with some of Olson's letter heads and blank checks. He said that he had not seen him yesterday, when Holland was to meet him at the Hotel Metropole. In the mean time he had been told that Holland had been released, and that Holland had no authority from him and was wanted by the Boston police.

Holland was taken to the Hotel Metropole with Kohnlepp yesterday and waited for Holland. Detective Goldstein watched from the opposite side of the street. He was told that he had the appointed time, but seeing Kohnlepp talking to a man who was waiting for him, he

Two of the Persons Drowned at Rockaway Beach Are Identified.

ROCKAWAY BEACH, L. I., July 24.—Two of the persons who were drowned at Rockaway Point yesterday were identified today. They are those of William P. Carey, aged 18, of 655 and 655 Bergen street, Brooklyn, and George C. Nichols, aged 19, of 148 Clinton street, Brooklyn.

The bodies were washed up by the waves at Sheephead Bay about 7 o'clock on Thursday morning. Their bodies were found yesterday afternoon floating in the water near Herkner's Golden, who were fishing along the coast. The boys had been swimming off the Herkner side up, near the shore. The bodies were fifty feet distant on either side of it. It is believed that the men started in a rowboat from that the two men tried to save themselves by jumping overboard.
